WORKERS' JUBILEE LAST ON PROGRAM

Celebration at St. John's Evangelical Closed with Music and Address.

With the Workers' Jubilee last night a special service held in honor of the three church societies, Frauen-Verein, Tabernacle, and Jugend-Verein, the sixty-fifth anniversary of the organization of St. John's Evangelical Church came to a fitting close, the meeting being attended by the entire membership of the church and a large number of others. The speakers were greeted with marked interest, the service constituting one of the most profitable during all the sessions of the celebration.

The principal speaker was the Rev. Paul A. Menzel, of Washington, D. C. Addressing the speakers to the Tabernacle, the speaker held the interested attention of his large audience, as he gave mention to the work carried on by this society. His address was in English, being appreciated by the entire audience.

The Rev. C. W. Locher, of Baltimore, addressed the Frauen-Verein in German, and his discourse appeared to an untold American to have been of a lively and profitable nature. More than once the German element of the audience burst into laughter; others did not see the point of the speaker's joke.

The last address on the program was made to the Jugend-Verein by the Rev. David Brumming, of Louisville, Ky., president of the Indiana District of the American Synod. In his address he emphasized especially the significance of guarding the youth of the congregation.

Of special note was the singing by the church choir and Gesangverein Virginia.

Following are the main numbers of the musical program:

Hallelujah, Chorus from the "Messiah," by the choir and Gesangverein Virginia; chorus, "Die Himmel Erzählen," from the "Creation," rendered by the same singers; quartet, "O, Be Joyful in the Lord," by Messrs. William Herbig and Henry Richter, of the choir; "The Church," by Mrs. J. T. Andersen, Jr., and Mrs. Henry C. Reuger.

The services in the church were followed by an informal reception in the Sunday school parlors.

During the celebration a number of the most prominent German Lutherans in the country have been present and made speeches. All the sessions since the beginning on Sunday morning have been well attended both by the members of the church and many persons not so affiliated.

AUTOMOBILE SMASHED

Mr. James H. Anderson and Adjutant-General Anderson, Esquire, Section A, were in a serious accident last night as they were proceeding along the highway in an automobile. In attempting to avoid collision with a passing wagon opposite Colonel T. K. Carter's home, No. 285 West Franklin Street, the machine was wrecked sharply to one side. Its momentum was so great that it turned completely round, and both wheels were smashed at the car skidded along the smooth street. Neither of the occupants was injured, but the machine was badly torn up.

Investigate Heating Plant.

A Subcommittee on Relief of the Poor will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock to hear a report from the Building Inspector in regard to the heating plant at the colored home. The contractor and architect of the building have been asked to attend.

THING OF BEAUTY NOW

Interior of Capitol Building Presents a Fine Appearance.

After several months of chaos and confusion, owing to the work of decorating which has been under way on the interior of the Capitol building, all the scaffolding was removed yesterday afternoon, and the walls presented indeed a beautiful picture. The contrast is at once striking to a degree. For nearly three months it has been difficult for one to pass in and out of the main offices on the second and third floors owing to the fact that it was necessary to keep the scaffolding up until the work was finally completed.

Houdon's famous statue of Washington on the main floor has been completely boxed up so that visitors could not see it. Now it has been uncovered and appears in its usual form.

The finishing up of the work has been welcomed by all the officials, as the scaffolding has been a great annoyance. After it was removed Capitol employees and Colonel Richardson proceeded at once to clear away the debris and to give the building a thorough cleaning.

STOLE ELECTRIC WIRING

Midway Artists at Fair Picked Up Every-thing in Sight.

Reports from the Fair Grounds yesterday indicate that fakers, showmen and con-men, who were busy in the vicinity of the electric equipment in the neighborhood of the fair, were picked up by the police. The general topic for the evening was the causes of corrosion in iron and steel. The papers were largely of a technical nature, dealing with the chemistry of the problem. The informal discussion later took a more practical turn, railroad men of long experience telling of their observations with steel rails and engines. The meeting ended with an informal smoker.

MINISTERIAL UNION ELECTS ITS OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

Officers of the Ministerial Union were elected yesterday as follows: President, the Rev. H. D. C. MacLachlan; Secretary and Treasurer, the Rev. Henry Pierce Atkins. One vice-president was chosen from each denomination represented in the union.

Arrangements were discussed for holding religious exercises in connection with the sessions of the National Prison Conference, which meets here next month.

The Ministerial Union is composed of all Protestant ministers in Richmond and Manchester. On account of the joint meeting the weekly denominational conferences were not held.

Members of the association were highly interested in the election, and every effort

THE BUSINESS MAN IN THE COMING ELECTION

"I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future but by the past."—Patrick Henry.

If the business men—small shopkeepers and mechanics, as well as the large merchants and manufacturers—who express themselves as desiring Judge Taft's election, will also work and vote for him, it is known that he will carry this city and other cities in this State. The votes are here, and if cast and counted for their preference between the two leading candidates, Richmond will be in line with her progressive sister cities, and the reproach removed from her citizens of voting as their fears impel them and not as their true interests dictate.

But it is also known that they fear that their individual business as well as the general good will suffer if they publicly announce themselves or labor for the success of their choice. What is the good, they ask, of running this risk? Already our banks have been threatened with a removal of the State's deposits.

We will not stop to point out, as can be shown, that this sort of talk is the expression of an imaginary fear rather than of a real danger. Nor will we pause to declaim against allowing such low motives to actuate one's conduct in public affairs. Rather would we reason with them and convince them that their true interest lies in doing all to defeat Mr. Bryan. His election would stop the wheels of progress. The laborer who is now out of employment, or only doing half time, would find his ranks increased. The manufacturers that are now only awaiting the result of this election to open up, would remain closed. The election of Judge Taft means a reversal of these conditions. It means revived manufactures and business. It means employment for the laborer and mechanic who is now unemployed. As Governor Hughes so well expressed it, "What the business man, what the mechanic is interested in, is not so much Mr. Bryan's scheme of guaranteeing depositors, as in having money to deposit."

But some ardent Bryanite will say, you are simply talking for political effect. You are not justified in picturing in such rosy hues the results that will flow from Mr. Bryan's defeat.

Are we not? As Patrick Henry said on an occasion scarcely more momentous than the one that confronts us, safe predictions of the future can only be made by accepting the teachings of experience. Every business man knows what dire results we escaped by the defeat of Mr. Bryan in 1896 and 1900. When the threat of free silver was removed and, in 1898, the gold standard was adopted by statute, this city entered on an era of prosperity such as it had never before experienced. Every man in it—merchant, manufacturer, real estate agent, mechanic and laborer—instantly felt the good effects of Bryan's defeat. The people's REFUSAL to listen to the insidious suggestion that the cure for the then existing depression was to be found in the repudiation of honest debt, in the debasement of our standard of value, and in the cutting down of the purchasing value of wages to one-half, at once bore good fruit.

Let the figures speak. Since 1898, Richmond's banking capital has increased over sixty per cent. The surplus and profits of her banks have more than doubled. Her bank clearances have nearly doubled. Her assessed real estate has increased in value more than one-third over what it was in 1898. Her assessed personal estate has increased over eighty-five per cent. Her jobbing trade has more than doubled. Her manufactures have increased more than one hundred and fifty per cent. Her Post-Office receipts more than one hundred and forty per cent. Her internal revenue collections more than fifty per cent. Her Custom House receipts more than a thousand per cent.

We admit that this phenomenal development was not all due to the defeat of Mr. Bryan's first false and wicked pancea. This capital city is rich, not only in historical memories, but in trained and educated mechanics, in business men of energy, push and far-sighted vision.

But one thought MUST pervade the mind of every citizen who reads these figures of our assured progress and material development which before he but dimly comprehended; and that thought is that it would be worse than foolish to try the new experiments in economics and government which this ready talker is now urging upon them, who could not have succeeded in his previous designs on the Presidency without causing disasters which he falsely predicted would follow his rejection.

Merchant, mechanic, manufacturer, business man, wage-earner, cast off all base fear! Vote as a business man for an experienced administrator to conduct the business affairs of this great nation on wise and practical lines with a view single to the care of present evils, by practical remedies, and not by experimental theories that would destroy the courts, make of justice a by-word of law a reproach, that would destroy the safeguards of person and property, hamper individual initiative and American energy, that would guarantee freedom to the sharper and rascal out of the savings and profits of the wise and prudent.

The battle is on—Take one side or the other. But don't be a skulker. Vote! Vote! Vote for William Howard Taft!

will be made to get a sufficient number of voters to the polls to get the required two-thirds majority. A committee of seven was appointed to make a personal canvass of the Highland Park voters and make a report on the results of the canvass.

Another committee, consisting of twelve members, was appointed to work at the polls on election day. Plans for the new building, which it is desired to erect at a cost of $30,000, were exhibited.

Mr. Dunn, the City Council, stated that the Council had under advisement a plan for raising between $50,000 and $100,000 with which to install a lighting and water-power plant.

The following new members were elected: W. K. Walker, A. B. Cook, C. A. Finck, J. M. Allen and A. B. Hinkle.

Besides her mother she is survived by two brothers—Charles Dillon, of this city, and Albert Dillon, of this city—and four sisters—Miss Elizabeth Dillon, Mrs. James Nagle, Mrs. C. T. Riddick and Miss Margaret Dillon—all of this city.

The funeral will take place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Patrick's Church. Interment will be made in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Gaines, wife of David H. Gaines, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of her nephew, L. L. Cosby, 1128 North Twenty-fifth Street, ELIZABETH W. Gaines, widow of David H. Gaines, in the forty-third year of her age. She leaves a devoted husband, three children, Harry and John Conil, by former marriage, and little Mary Gaines, by her second; three devoted sisters and one brother.

There are three words that sweetly blend. That on the heart are graven: A precious, soothing balm they lend; They're mother, home and heaven.

If from our side the first has died, And home be but a name, Let us strive the narrow path to tread That we the last may gain.
